CAMP 2FD N. C. CAVALRY, July 24, 1864 EDITORS CONFEDERATE:-Believing that we have friends who have on every occasion mani fested some concern for us, I propose to write a short epistle to let them know where we are and what we are doing.

Our camp is situated within a few miles of Petersburg. Va , on the Weldon road. Nother, but on the contrary somewhat, repulsive to the eyes of these "tar-beels." Now, some of onr good friends may become semewhat insulted at the idea of our being termed "tar-heels;" but after hearing the manner in which we acquired the soubriquet, inone can say aught .-When BEE exclaimed "There stands Jackson like a Stone-wall! '-it gave him a proud name S) some one in quite so immortal, said of the 5th N C, infantry-"Surery those fellows must have tar on their heels; see how they stick ! Thus, you see, whilst we acquired seeming a sneering coubriquet, yet it was a most brilliant and worthy one; and we can assure our good friends no slar or slauder is meant. ..

Our brigade has undergone the most tedious campaign since the beginning of this struggle fer life and liberty. Such continuous marching, fighting, and so little rest, that many, through sheer exhaustion, have become temperarily unserviceable. The casualties in cavalry have been alarmingly enormous, when compared with our former campaigns; but we are still as willing and ready to strike as ever.

The North Carolina soldiers are in no wise fearful of our success as regards our independence, but there is something that gives us great uneasiness -and that is, the harrowing idea of having such a man as Holden at the helm of State. Great God! what are our fathers, brothers and friends at home thinking of? I cannot believe they contemplate electing such a creature. That man who has followed the caprices of political fortune merely for the sake of self-aggrandizement and emolument. We want no such man to govern us-but we do want a staunch, HONEST, firm and determined man, and that man is Z. B. Vance. Holden stock is irreparably below par here. Every brave, true hearted Southron spurns and shuns it as he would the venomous serpent. We intend to give Vance a decided, unanimous vote, and call upon our friends at home to aid us in this struggle; for it is indeed one of as much tion of this military campaign. This gubernatorial election will truly raise us to the zenith of our glory, or consigu us to infamy to the end of time The noble spirits of coming generations would point their fingers to our sons and say with marked emphasis -"Your fathers inmortalized themselves in the field, but the election of Holden as their Chief Magistrate more than counteracted their glorious results. We are the sufferers, and we feel that we have a right to speak openly and candidly, I also feel that we have a right to proffer advice upon the momentous question. Holden is chuckling over the deception be has practised upon the people by his infamous PEACE ARTICLES. He knows they are all stuff, and can effect nothing: and now is the time, fellow-soldiers and friends at home, to let him know that he has not dured us. And the best way to do this is to bury him so deep beneath the votes of honest freemen that he can never be resurrected. Up with Davis, Vance and the rebel cause! Down with Holden, his peace humbug, and "those miscrable people," as our noble and magnani-mons Lee invariably terms the Yankees! Our cause is just and righteous-our leaders equal to the times -- our prospects brilliant! But the bare idea of having such a man as Holden (just think of it!) for our Governor, throws a damper over our spirits, which cannot be easily

For the Confederate. MESSES. EDITORS :- We are anxious to know why the editor of the Progress should. be so vigilant, generous and accommodating all at once, as to turnish his paper gratutiously to the people in this part of the State? I have been troubled with this paper for several weeks, I don't mean to say by its perusal, for I am not so easily caught as that-the

The Progress has gone further than sending his paper gratutiously; he has been flooding our Post office with printed tickets, (they meet their doom at the office door.) They were sent to "disinterested." individuals, saying "distribute them among Mr. Holden's friends." I think he was mistaken in the location of Mr Holden's friends. I don't think Rowan can furnish Mr. Holden with that much bonor. The Progress was mistaken in the man he sent those tickets to. He as well as many others would just as soon see any other traitor elected as W. W. Holden .-We would like to inform Mr. Holden and his treacherous friend, that we are not so ignorant but what we can shape for ourselves a more suitable ticket; we mean one that can be carried to the ballot box open, and headed Z B Vance. We shall not go to the polls, as Mr. Holden has advised us, with a folded ticket. I imagine we would look more like a condemaed culprit, trembling under the gallows, than like free and independent voters. How would we feel if any of our friends were to ask us who we voted for? We would be ashamed to acknowledge that we had voted for W. W. Holden. We would feel like we had committed one of the blackest sins of which man could be guilty. We could not feel worse if. we had j ined the H. O. A. society. Be ashamed, Mr. Holden, for advising the ignorant to go to the polls with their tickets fold-ROWAN.

The Georgia Front.

Special Correspondence of the Memphis. Appeal IN FRONT OF ATLANTA. Wednesday, July 19, 1864.

Finding that the enemy had crossed Peachtree creek and were attempting to turn his right for the purpose of gaining possession of the railroad bridge, Gen. Hood determined to ing romantic or picturesque in scenery, howev- attack their lett, and Stewart's and Hardee's corps were ordered to advance upon them .--The order to advance was received by the men with the wildest enthusiasm, and no sooper was the order given than the men swept forward with a yell such as only a rebel can give, and the enemy's skirmishers were soon encountered and driven back upon the main line, where temporary works had been erected. Our men never faltered but dashed forward through the beating rain and drove the enemy in disorder from the works, capturing a number of prisoners.

I shall not attempt to give you in this hurriedly written letter, the details of the action; suffice it to say, that up to this hour the enemy are steadily and surely being driven back, as with the exception of Walker's front, where to trouble seems to have occurred, they have been driven across the creek fully one mile on an average of the whole line.

Prisoners are coming in, in large squade, and as I write a party of about two hundred has just arrived, an I I understand that others are on the way. The whole number brought in up to the present writing is, I suppose, about 300, although it is difficult to form an estimate at a point where they are hastily collected and being rapidly sent to the rear. Among those lost on our side are Brig. Gen. Stevens, of Walker's Division, and Major Preston, of the artillery, killed during the action. Their death has dampened the joy we feel over our success. Our loss, so far as I' can ascertain, has been comparatively small, as I have not seen more than twenty ambulances laden with wounded passing to the

When the works were stormed a magnificent flag was discovered floating in the breeze amid the storm of balls, and a number of men sprang forward to capture the coveted prize, out private John H. Badgett, of Company G. importance and vitality to us as the termina- 27th Alabama, outstripped the rest and grappling with the color-bearer wrested it from him and brought to the rear, and after delivering it up returned to his post. The flag was a beautiful one and belonged to the 33d New Jersey infantry, of Hooker's corps. The conduct of young Badgett is highly spoken of during the entire affair.

At this time it is impossible to get anything definite from the entire line, but I anderstand that Cleburne's veterans are not behind the others in the good work, but are again exhibiting that true coutage which has made them the idol of the army

On the right I hear that Wheeler had been hotly engaged, and his men from the temporary breastworks had repulsed the enemy in three assaults and were still gallantly holding their position.

Owing to the nature of the ground here, but little artillery was used, but the roar of small arms made ample, amends for the absence of noisy monsters.

The fight still rages and there is every prospect of its continuing through the night, and unless the enemy abandon their position the long looked for battle will take place to-

From a gentleman just from Stone Mountain I learn that a party of the enemy were moving down the Georgia road tearing up the track as they went, having reached a point four miles beyond the mountain. Their object evidently is to destroy the bridge over Yellow River, three miles this side of Covington.

ON THE PICKET LINE, NEAR PEACHTREE CREEK, July 20 .- The enemy, pressed forward vigorously yesterday with infantry, under the protection of their artillery, and succeeded in throwing a considerable force across l'eachtree Creek, about four o'clock in the evening. Owing to some defect in the lines, and the disadvantage of the position, we sustained some loss in prisoners. Tyler's brigade suffered most severely. Lieut, Colonel Hale and the Adjutant of the 2d Tennessee, with their colors and a number of their men were cap-"devil" tempts me too often, without his tured. Capt. T. R Kendall, 4th Georgia, S. T. was wounded, and eight men of that batation captured. The remainder of the brigtde was not engaged. This morning the enemy is busily engaged fortifying the ground gained on last evening, and the meantime entertaining our vickets with a lively fire.

They will doubtless make another effort to advance this afternoon, but they will find, ere long, something more potent than mere skirmish line and slight outworks.

The noble example set by the 1st and 3d Florida regiments, of donating rations to the poor of Atlanta, seems not to have been lost. The 20th Tennessee, by unanimous acclamation, appropriated one day's rations to the same purpose. Other regiments are preparing to take the same step. The following instance related to me by a soldier goes to show the great damage done som times by rand m firing : While on the other side of the. Chattahoochee river, a captain in Wright's brigade-now Carter's-who had just come off picket; took out his company to fire off their guns. He ordered his men to direct their fire toward the yankee line, remarking that it might hart somebody, which they did. On the following day a prisoner was captured on the same line. His first question was to inquire the meaning of the velley fired at such an hour on the previous When it was explained, be stated it day. bad killed his Colonel, and caused great surprise to those who heard the volley and wittheir organization, viz:

Those of the counties of Washington and Martin, at Williamston.

II. Local Enrolling Officers on duty in the several counties in which the rendezvous are ordered, will superintend the organization of the companies and the election of the officers, in accordance with former inst uctions, and forward the rolls and certificates of election to this office without delay.

111. Local Eurolling Officers are charged not only with the dissemination of this order, but will be held strictly responsible for its execution likewise. They will call upon the militia officers to aid them and will spare no pains to secure the presence of all the "Sepior Reserves" in their respecifive counties.

1V. It is not the intention of the Lieutenant General Commanding Reserves of N. C. to keep the Senior Class of his force in the field. The purpose of this order is simply to organize the companies so as to reader them efficient in repelling raids, and in other emergencies. A prompt attendance is urged upon the men, and every man is reminded that it is to his interest not only to be present himself on the day appointed, but to see that his neighbors come to,, as it will be necessary to retain them at the rendezvous till a sufficient number report to organize. As soen, on the other hand, as the organization is complete, the men will be permitted to return to their homes.

never have a permanent peace. So far as the soldiers are concerned, I do not wish to appear to boast, but I will say that I have done as much for their families, or more, according to my means, than any Vanceite in the County of Chatham.

WEDNESDAY, JELY 27, 1864.

Let the Soldiers R member!

That if we succeed in establishing our independence, the maimed, crippled and disabled soldiers of the South will be provided with bounty lands on which to live, and a pension from the Government for their yearly support. But if we fail, and are subjugated, or a reconstructon of the Union should take place, all the bounty lands and pensions will go to the Yankee soldiers who have disa-

Let them remember that Mr. Holden's "road to peace" leads to subjugation, or at best to reconstruction, which will be the rain of the disabled soldier.

Let the soldier remember that the Yankee debt is over four thousand millions of dollars, while our debt is only about one thousand million. If reconstruction takes place, the m st favorable terms that would be allowed us, would make us repudiate our own debt. and pay half if not the whole of theirs; which would impose upon us a load of debt to Yankee speculators was have fatteded on contracts for furnishing applies to destroy us.

Let him remember, that Mr. Holden's road to peace, lies towards reconstruction. For he "proposes a convention of all the Statesthe South to go in, in favor of separation; the North in fayor of reconstruction."-(See Ruleigh Standard.) The North in such a convention would have the majority, and of course would carry everything their own way.

Let the soldiers remember, that Lincoln has just said, that the only terms of negotiation which he would receive, are reconstruction and the mandonment slavery. The effect of setting free the negro, would be to lose the whole benefit of this species of property for taxation, thus imposing on the soldier the yanke? debt, and at the same time taking away the vast negro property that would help to pay the taxes.

Let the soldier remember, that the reason the war has been prolonged, has been because men have been kept out of the field-ach as militia officers, and justices, and constables, and all such like, and that the Legislature was induced to make these exemptions, by the influence of Mr. Holden, who has opposed the putting in of principals of substitutes, and all the other officers we have named-thus helping to leave our small armies without reinforcements.

Let the soldier remember, that the army is a band of brothers, united by honorable and patribtic association in the labors and perils of the field, and that they should symp. thize with one another, and that their great chiefs, Lee, and Beauregard, and the la neated Stewart, and most of their 'ellow-soldiers, ardently desire the defeat of Mr. Holden, whom they regard as unfriendly to the cause.

Let the sol lier remember, that their brothers in arms, the officers and soldiers who have stood beside them in battle, and who have been captured and are now in the pri ons of the enemy, appeal to them, for their sakes, to vote for froz. Vance, because they say, the enemy taget them with the election of Mr. Holden as a Yankee victory.

Let the soldier remember, that the very yankees whom they have fought and whipped and taken prisoners, shout for Mr. Holden as they pass through the streets; that the deseriers and tories are leagued and banded to support him, and that while a few good men may vote for him, all the deserters who have lest their posts, and all the tories who can get to the polls, certainly will; and that Mr. Holden says "a man is known by the company

Let the soldier remember, that Mr. Holden opposed the tithe law, by which they have been fed; and the impress nent laws by which their families have been provided for.

Let the soldier remember, that he wives, daughters, sisters and mothers-the women of the and-they who visit him in his affliction and provide for his wants, have a deep interest in this election, and they are almost unanimously for Gov. Vance, because they regard him as a true representative of the interests of the South. It will gratify the soldier to beed the counsels of woman, because she puts ber trust upon him, and he is her chivalrous

Lastly, let the soldier remember, that this is an election which will become a portion of history, and will make a record of the posttrop of each man in the hour of his country's danger; that the soldier is the model of free and independent action, and to him approprintely belongs to set the example of voting honestly and openly for the man of his choice.

Remember, sek and wounded soldiers, that Mr. Holden has not only kept out of the army himself, but has kept out a stout, able-bodied son, and every hedy else he could. And yet he has the in pudence to 'call himself, the soldier's friend.

We are requested to call the attention of our readers to the Advertisement of the Depositary in this paper about call certificates, and calling for holders of certificates to come forward and exchange them for bonds.

It is said to be a fact that some of Morgan's men have captured the notorious tory Col. Kirk, and that he is in jail in Abingdon, Va. Some forty of his men were killed in the skirmish in which he was captured.

"Col. McRae, the chief editor of the Confederate," has seen Mr. Pennington's editorial of yesterday, with reference to his publication of the card of Frank I Wilson. We have no fault to find with the tope of the article, though there are mistakes in its statements .-There never was an intimacy of any kind between us and Mr. Pennington. We saw a good deal of him in Newbern, and concurred with him sometimes in political sentiment; though we really forget at this time, (such was his variable course) whether he supported us when a candidate in that county or not. But we had a sympathy for Pennington. We had known of his hard beginning; we saw him struggling for a living industricusly, and apparently honestly, and we wished him success; and while there was no intimacy, and scarce any association, there was on our part a respectful kindly feeling, which always prompted a courteous treatment whenever we encountered

When we met him in Raleigh, our personal feelings towards him had not changed, though his career in the army, as we had heard it from the best sources, had not been such as to increase our respect. We therefore met him in very near the spirit of our former acquaintance. We became a candidate very soon thereafter, and Mr. Penrington was editing a professedly neutral paper; and the first thing we knew that his practice was dif ferent from his profession was, that he went out of his way to notice e it rially the fact of Col. Devane's being in the field, in order to strike a side blow for our competitor. The next we heard was, that in a private conversation with Capt. Myers, of Whitford's regiment, he stated that "we had seduced him into the support of Douglas and then abandoned him, and that no reliance was to be put in the stability or integrity of Col. Mc-Rae." He denied this afterwards, and the question of veracity still pends between him and Capt. Myers. Previously he had gone down to Clayton, to vote for Dr. Leach-the only Newbern refugee that we know of - who voted against us.

Since we have been connected with the Confederate, our purpose has been to discuss such political positions as public men should take, in a courteous, respectful style, freely as should be necessary for a full discussion. but fairly and without personal offence. So far as the editor of the Progress was concerned, it was necessary to assail his loyalty. for his articles were injurious to the cause; but we assailed him for his opinions, and argued from his writings, fairly quoted, never applying to him epithets of harshness .-Indeed we did not allude to him or his paper at all, until after many times he had insidiously applied to us terms of abuse And our belief was and is, that he opened the columns of his paper to others, to assail us. Though we confess to an opinion, that he is entitled to credit for many articles attributed by the public to outside aid. .

Lately, as we stated a day or two since, the Editor of the Progress published an offensive communication against us, from a correspondent in Rutherford. Subsequently he expressed to us his regret, and said wif he had seen the injurious portion, he would not have published it." After this, when he published the card of Mr. Frank I. Wilson the shameful proposition of Wilson, there was but one course left for os, unless we were willing to sit down under an intolerable system of insult.

Perhaps it may be asked why we do not meet Mr. Holden's publication of the same article in the same way? Our answer is, that we do not intend to offer a personal issus with Mr. Holden, to affect the election. We shall bide our time.

As to the editor's possession of coolness and calmness, and as for his reasons for his course of conduct when we met him on the street, these are for bim to speak of . We are content to leave them where he puts them But as to our having sinned against him, we deny it. We have not done justice to his injurious and reprehensible opinions, and publications; nor have the p ople of North Girolina, nor the Governments, State nor Confederate, done proper justice to his, and the mischievous agitation of Mr. Holden. And we have foreborne to participate in the personal attacks upon him, while he was daily instruating that we were a "sub-idized Editor" We have not followed in the allusions to his early career, and the variety of employments that he then followed, because we did not think this quite a legitimate attack, though he had provoked it. He had the right to select his calling, and it his lot in life made his calling humble, or if his taste made it eccentric and not altogether dignified, we had nothing to do with it; and, candidly, we thought he was more blameless in those early vocations, than he is now. Nor do we make these allusions to wound or injure. We are of the number of those who have a real, not an affected sympathy with those who struggle against mis-

We have thus alluded to the Editor, and replied to him in order to correct his errors, and have the public to understand our positions. We not only "disclaim being a member of the Il O. A.'s." but we disclaim the defence of them, or any of them. We regard them all as criminals, whom the justice of the country ought to ferret out and punish. And we hope the Editor has kept and will keep so clear of them that he may not run the ri-k of being "shot through the head." He has not " played Wyman " in so long a time tha: perhaps he might not be expert, and we hoped that having become a political necromancer, he had abjured the practical game. We could not avoid this allusion, for he made the retort necessary.

Remember, that a vote for Holden is a vote to encourage the yankees to continue the war.

The Soldier's Vote.

To-morrow is the day fixed blaw for the soldiers in the field, in the campu the hospital, to vote for Governor, mebers of the Legislature and Sheriffs of the respective counties. It is a duty and a prilege they are called on to perform this me, under the most solemn and responsible ircumstances; and we believe they will pertus it with the same patriotic integrity tha they, the manhood, pride and spirit of thland, have met and chastised the insolent inder-who in their absence from home, wrever they had opportunities, have murred and robbed their families and kindre at home, ters calamities greater than death self.

Aud can any one doubt as thou-for whom they will vote for Governoof the old State, in whose defence they have riled life, home, wife, children, parents, andll, dearer than life itself? None but the pisguided, the deceived, the deluded, will casheir votes for W. W. Holden, whose course he prolonged this bloody struggle, and my invites a transfer of the bloody strife with the Yankee enemy, to a civil war among quown people, our brothers and kindred, benat their own homes and around their own faily al-

All that is dear and sacred is now t stake. Let the maimed and sick seldier, laruishing in the hespitals, remember before he asts his vote to morrow, that a heartless, and oprincipled foe is in the very heart of our lad laying it waste on every side. Let hipremember that he must be driven out, or a is lost. Let him remember what he himsel he done to drive him back-how he has fount, and bled and suffered-how his comraes, his brothers, his sons, his kinsmen and friends have fallen noble martyrs to their contry's cause, and then let him ask bimself, ihe can belie the record of his own glerious deds and tread with contempt upon the grave of his slaughtered brothers in arms, by votint for a man who is in league with the vile nemy, who has persistently given all his influence to prevent our armies from being reinfired so as to be able to meet and vanquish the fee? If so let him vote for W. W. Holden. Does he up our thinned ranks, but that he and his comrades now in the trenches shill be left unsided to defend the laggards at some ? 11. he does, let him vote for W. W. Holden .--Does he desire this war to be continued for long and weary months and years? Ifso, let him vote for W. W. Holden.

. Afraid to Meet Him.

Mr. Holden says we are afraid to "meet Mr. Settle," and because we frankly confessed as much, he styles our "reasons puerile and ridiculous." It seems impossible to please Mr. Holden. Had we met Mr. Settle. we should have been "harangaing for votes", for Gov. Vance, and Mr. Holden would have said-behold the destructive. If we decline and confess an "apprehension of Mr Settle's prowe-s," Mr. Holden says our "reason is puerile and ridiculous," and charges us with being afraid. Mr. Holden and Mr. Settle may have set a trap, but they caught no bird, except the rather lean consolution Mr. Settle may have in finding us " afraid to meet

But why does not Mr. Holden meet Gov. Vance? He has been often invited to do so. He has not the excuse of a "reasonable apprehension." He don't want to tharangue for votes;" he rather have some body else barangue for him-some "fearles, gallans patriotic gentleman." Thus situated, Mr. Holden would combine ease with safety .-The discreet and considerate man!

---We are not surprised to learn that the members of the Masonic Fraternity generally, are very indignant at the attempt to similate it with the infamous H. O. A. society; and that they are denouncing in bitter terms, Ir. Holder, the Progress, and all who have units with them in thus attempting to stigmatize tir beloved Everybody even Mr. Hollen Baself, seems to feel confident of his defeat. But the true men of the State should not be disfied with an ordinary defeat of this arch gitator and disturber of unanimity and co our own people, but thet shoul go to work, every man of them, and from tw till the p ils close on the 4th of August labor with a will and patriotic fervor for loverthrow, The eletion of W. W. Holder with all his abominable principles, will be lisgrace to the State. His defeat, by a live majority. will live in history an endurin testimonial of the patriofism, courage and ranky fidelity of her sons. Let us not be stisfied with less than twenty-five theused majority against him.

From the Front.

Special Corresdondence to the Memphis Appeal. IN FRONT OF ATLANTA.

Tuesday evening, July 19 1864, The fight on Nance's creek yesterday be-tween Williams' brigade and Hooker's entire corps, turns out to have been of more importance than was at first supposed Finding that they were advancing in heavy force, Old "Cerro Gordo" determined to impede their advance as much as possible, until the commander-in-chief could be notified, and make preparations to meet them.

Dismounting his men, and concealing them In the dense undergrowth, he brought up two pieces of artitlery, and hastily constructed a masked battery upon the opposite direction in which they were advancing, the woods opposite their position having been burned recentand visited upon mothers, sisters id daugh ly, aff rded them a fine view in their front. They had been in position but a short time, when the enemy's skirmishers were discovered, who pressed forward, closely followed by the main body, marching in column. Their skirmishers were allowed to approach within twenty paces, when the sig al was given, and a murderous fire was poured into hem at point blank range; the artillery opening at the same time with shell and canister upon the head of the column. The enemy broke and fled in wild confusion, but were again referenced, and advanced in line of batile. General Williams then withdrew about one mile and formed another ambuscads, into which the enemy fell again; but, after wavering some time, finally advanced again, and tri d to flank him upon the right The 1st Kentucky, then in reserve, was then ordered to charge them, in order to bring off the artillery and horses, which was done in gallant style. led by the gallant and interepid McCaw'ey, they closed upon the foe, and a hand to hand rencounter took place, which has not been equalled during the war; our men using the butts of their guns and pist Is, and the enemy their bayoners. O. ing to the density of the thicket, many of the officers were in advance of the line, and Lieut. Col Griffin, commanding the regiment, came suddenly upon the enemy, and boldly advancing, demanded their surrender, telling them he had a regiment with him, to which they replied, they had an army corps, and called upon him to surrender, which he, together with his adjulant and five of his captains were reluctantly compelled to do; but their captors had scarcely begun to rejoice ever them, before the sallant 1st was upon them, and driving them back in wild disorder, and yelling like so many incernate devils, they recaptured all of them; also, the body of the gallant McCawley, and thereby saving the herses and artillery,

- Five times during the day were they ambuscaded and Gen. Williams estimated their desire that no more men shall be sent to fill less at 500 ki led and wounded, and 22 prisoners. Our loss was 21, including Cawley, who Gen. Williams says was the best staff officer he ever saw in any army.

The Univerrity.

We are gratified to learn that the exercises of this venerable institution bave opened for the present session as favorably as could reasonably have been anticipated. It is a trying period however, with that as with all such institutions. Some have succus bed to the difficulties of the times; others maintain a lingering existence. We hope, for the lasting honor and advantage of our State, that no failure will be permitted here The Faculty should be supported and kept together, so that when we are again blessed with peace they may be ready to receive the throng of young men who will resort there for knowldge. Their salaries should be raised to enable them to live decently. Such has been the liberal course of employers of all kinds, from the day laborer to the officers of those soulless corporations, the Banks. Wages and salaries have been raised from 100 to 500 per cent. How is it with the gentlemen of the University-distinguished as gentlemen and for intellect? We do not know certainly, but fear, from what we have he rd of private ar rangements, that some of them have been driven to, that they have not been treated with equal liberality. Perhaps it may only be necessary to remind the Board of Trustees that even the Banks have doubled, and sometimes more than doubled, the salaries of their officers. They have trenched upon their reserved funds to do this Why should not the 'Unia versity be equally liberal-nay equally just? We lately had great pleasure in learning that within the past quarter of a century, since 1837, there have been added to the institution buildings, apparatus, library, and other things' of permanent value, costing more than $75,-000, without any diminution of capital, or moneyed investment. In other words the net earlings have exceeded $3000 a year at the some time that 8 to 10 bem ficiaries have been educated each year, without caarge for tuition or room-rent. B sides which the entire other xpenses of a large proportion of these beneficharies have been detrayed by the two Literary

These are pleasant roults for contemplation The blessings of many a young man, who might otherwise have remained in ignorance, rest upon the Institution and the Socoidies which have thus given him the means "to climb the steep where Fame's proud tomple shines afar." But whilst thus beral to the youths, let not the venerable Faculty want for the support to which their labors, their a quirene ts, and their characters, entitle them .- Fou. Obs.

FROM UPPER EAST TENNESSEE .- Our troops are now pick-ting as low down in Tennessee as Rog rsville, and pernaps still lower down, and it is said there are no Yankee troops this side of New Market. The whole force at Knoxville is said to be three negro r giments and a battallion of Miebigarders. about half of the latter of whom, are at New Market Brownlow is still blazing away at Knexville, advocating the election of Abe and Andy. A lady who has arrived in Abingdon, Va., from Athens. Tean., represents Yankee rule in that region as very brutal and tyrannical, but less so than the conduct of the Union .

A SURE TEST -Stronger than all certifieates-lowever conclusive these may be, or however respectable their m kers-as to Mr. Hol en's feelings and designs towards the ioniederate States, is the evidence fifmished by his paper, the Raleigh Standard. We need not re-state this, but we isk every one of is readers to look at his paper and judge And here is the test which every man cau apply. If I read no other paper than the Raleigh Sandard, with what nation would I conclude North Carolina to be at enmity? with the Confederate States, or with the United Statesh I any body can find anything in the Raleig Sandard really indicating hostility to an government except that of the Confederate Staffs, or to any individuals except citizens of the Confederate States, he has keener sight than we have, and we think we read the Standard pretty thorougly .- Fay. Obs.

[From the New York News.] Over Two and A Half Millions of Men, and Still Want More.

The following figures, so far as they go, are supposed to be reliable: Raised in 1861, as per report of Secretary Cameron, for three months, 77 875; raised in the same year, as per same report, for three years, 660.971; 300,000; call of august 4. 1862, for militia, (mine months men) 300,000; call for militia of certain States, June 15, 1863, to repel invaders of Pensylvania, 129.000; draft of July, 1863, three years men, 300.000; wumber r ised since October 17, as per statement of Senator Wilson, 700,000; total, 2,458,846. In the recent battles on the way to R chmond, and in Sherman's raid in Georgia, the losses by builets and disease are so great that conscription will tollow conscription, in order to procure new victims to fill the ranks that havoc has so thinned.

The statement above does not embrace the militia called out in the Western. States, and hurried forward to the Army of the Potomac, per the call for the militia of New York, Pennsylvania, and other States, now being filled, nor does it embrace the last conscription. Yet still the insatiate appetite of war calls for more of human blood and human Senator, Chandler, of Michigan, thought the Union not worth saving without a "little blood letting." One would think that there has been blood letting, misery and death enough within the last three years to satisfy the most aloud-thirsty of all the Abolition tribe, yet the cry is still for more.

We learn from Captain Cameron of Morgan's command, who accompanied the recent expedition into Kentucky, that throughout the section traversed by our cavalry, indications of a disposition and readiness of the people to raise the standard of open resistance to the Federal power whenever a Condederate army within their borders give them assurance of a permanent support, were apparent to a most gratifying extent. Our informant is convinced by what he saw of the disposition of the people of Kentucky, that the late proclamation of Lincoln, establishing martial law over the State, was occasiored by no idle apprehension on the part of the Federal Administration.
